

Stage Culturale Linguistico in Cambridge

A photo of the famous Chapel of Kings College

On the 22rd of February, we went to Cambridge for a week, for a Cultural and Linguistic trip. Cambridge is a lovely city, not too far from the Capital of England (London) and it leads you into a peaceful and cultural environment.

There are so many Universities and Colleges, so it's a good place for young people too. Last but not least, they strictly respect nature and rules. Not like Italians. There is a right mixture of Nature and City, in fact, in Cambridge, you can find a lot of green parks near streets and buildings. A lot of famous people studied in Cambridge, for example: Newton and Darwin.

In this ex College, Darwin had his studies.

St. John's Chapel.

We were accommodated in different families, and it was the best way to learn more English, and what they usually do. The only thing missed was the Italian food, for the rest the family where i spent that week was friendly and really kind.

In the morning we had lesson at the Kaplan International English school. We had three lessons: the first one was one hour and forty-five long and then we had ten minutes break. The second one, was one hour and half long, and after lunch we had the last lesson of the day, that lasted only one hour.

In this Pub, the oldest of Cambridge, DNA was discovered.

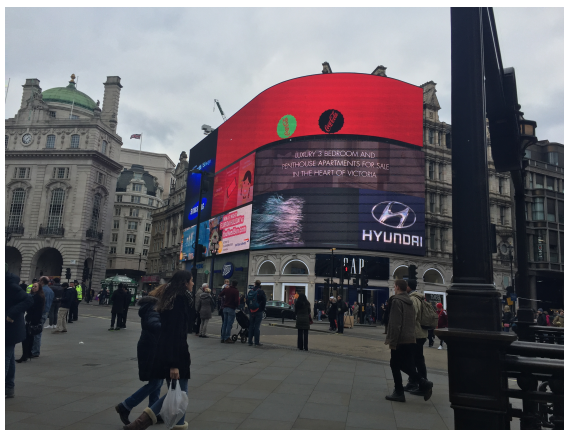

The College where Newton had his studies.

The three (naturally not the real one) where Newton understood the law of gravity.

The teachers were really young, like 20-24 years old. They were Veronica and Maggie, and they were very kind and prepared. Kaplan is a good school, where you can learn a lot of new things, and have fun too. In the last day at school, we received a certificate which gave us some extra credits.

Each afternoon, after school, we had a lot of different activities. For example: On Tuesday we visited Cambridge with a guide, On Wednesday we visited the beautiful St. John's College, On Thursday we went to the FitzWilliam Museum, and on Friday we did Punting on the river Cam. We passed though the city and we saw all colleges. On Saturday we went to London, and after a little tour of the main landmarks, we had three hours and half for Shopping.

Piccadilly Circus.

In Cambridge we had a lot of fun, and we knew a lot of new people! Personally, I learnt many things that i didn't know, i adapted myself to English customs and traditions, and this trip will be in my heart forever. I think that these experiences let you grow up and you have to have them at least once in your lifetime.

I hope that i can repeat it next year, and i have to say thanks to my school, for giving me this opportunity.

The famous Big Ben.